

Explanation of Revisions, Credit Easing

For balance sheet dates starting on March 4, 2015, and ending July 20, 2016, the data series for Term Auction Credit, Asset-Backed Commercial Paper, and Net Portfolio Holdings Commercial Paper were erroneously reported on this page as ranging from $1 million to $8 million, when they should all have been reported as $0. The data were revised to show the correct values on August 3, 2016.

On August 11, 2016, the data underlying the credit-easing charting tool were updated to impose a historically consistent definition of Other Fed Assets prior to April 2013, consistent with changes made in the Federal Reserve statistical release H.4.1 at that time, and to correct data entry errors in other subcomponent entries that were present prior to 2014. A total of 411 entries were affected. The downloadable dataset was unaffected by these changes, but it has been reformatted to more closely match the components of the credit-easing charting tool.

Users are encouraged to download the new version of the complete dataset at:
