Kersy Azocar
President and CEO
Greenline Access Capital

Kersy Azocar is the President and CEO of Greenline Access Capital, a mission-driven nonprofit financial institution and emerging CDFI that works to address the continued and persistent gap in access to capital for financially underserved people in Philadelphia.

Established in 2021, Greenline has helped connect more than 105 small businesses with $9.4 Million dollars in Capital, including Grants and Loans. Prior to joining Greenline, Kersy worked for 13 years at a Philadelphia-based Community Financial Development Institution (CDFI) where she managed a microlending department with a national scope.

In 2021, Kersy worked as the Project Manager of the Pennsylvania COVID-19 Hospitality Industry Recovery Program (CHIRP), a $17 Million dollar Grant program created by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to support businesses in the hospitality industry. Originally from the Dominican Republic, Kersy prides herself on being able to address the needs of emerging and existing entrepreneurs providing a hands-on approach rarely encountered in the industry.
