He/him/his

Davonta Milbry is an education, museum, and outreach associate in the Office of Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Opportunity (ODEIO) at the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland. He assists with the Fed Futures Professional Program by creating content, coordinating learning sessions, and programming, and supporting career growth along the participants. Davonta also engages with external stakeholders to promote the Bank’s financial literacy programming and to increase the Bank’s hiring pools by building partnerships with K-12 schools, colleges, and universities within the 4th district.

Davonta joined the Cleveland Reserve Bank in June of 2019 on an hourly basis in the Talent Acquisition team. The following spring, he transferred over to the ODEIO when he joined the Bank full-time May of 2020.

He holds a bachelor’s degree in Business Management and Human Resources from John Carroll University and completed the DiversityFirst Certification Program in February of 2021. Davonta also holds a Certification in Online Teaching from National University.
